About our Clinician/Judge: Cathy Hartley attended her first stock dog training clinic and trial in 1985. She grew up on a small farm/homestead in piedmont area of NC. From an early age she trained and worked stock dogs gathering up mostly neighbor's rouge goats and cows when they were unable to be captured. Cathy is a AKC, AHBA, USBCHA, ABC, CKC Judge, she also has served as an emergency Judge for ASCA when needed. Cathy conducts all herding breed training clinics throughout the country and gives customized private lessons as well. She has competed in all the above organizations acquiring multiple titles, championships, open handler status and has in previous years qualified for USBCHA National Finals in both sheep and cattle. Cathy currently competes with her dog Bel-Jac Kate, she lives on a farm in Kenbridge, Va. with her daughter Jessie where they raise sheep, goats, and cattle.
